Liability Waiver

By signing this form, I understand and agree that this competition has a “scorched earth” policy. Due to the hostile nature of the network and the combative nature of the competitors, you will likely receive your device back in a different state than you brought it in. We expect many devices to get rm'd, wiped, or otherwise boot-disabled during the course of the competition. Do not contribute any device that you cannot restore yourself after the competition, as we are not responsible for the state or condition of the device during or after the competition.
